CONG & LEFT CREATING FEAR WITH RUMOURS, SAYS PM

Gulf crisis a reminder for energy growth, self-reliance: Modi

Says no need to panic about LPG supply, 25% rise in domestic production

SHAJU PHILIP
Thiruvananthapuram, March 11

CALLING THE WAR in West Asia “a matter of concern for all”, Prime Minister Narendra Modi said Wednesday that “the expansion of the petroleum sector is essential” and “the current crisis has once again established” how important it is “for us to become atmanirbhar (self-reliant)”.

Addressing an NDA convention in Ernakulam where he also laid the foundation stone of a polypropylene unit at the nearby Kochi Refinery and inaugurated development initiatives totalling nearly ₹11,000 crore, Modi accused the Congress of “deliberately making provocative and irresponsible statements” on the West Asia situation. His remarks, targeting the Congress and Left for “mocking the Atmanirbhar Bharat” campaign, came ahead of the expected announcement of the schedule for Assembly elections in Kerala.

Speaking on the crisis in West Asia and recalling the rescue of nurses trapped in Iraq, and priests Tom Uzhunnalil in Yemen and Alexis Premkumar in Afghanistan, Modi said, “Millions of our brothers and sisters work there. You must remember that today there is a BJP-NDA government in the country. Whenever Indian citizens have been in trouble, we have used all our strength to rescue them safely. The Congress,

Prime Minister Narendra Modi is felicitated during a public meeting, in Ernakulam. BJP state president Rajeev Chandrasekhar and others were also present which is trying to find politics even in such a major global crisis, is deliberately making provocative and irresponsible statements so that the situation worsens. Then they can start a campaign of making reels just to abuse and criticise Modi. This is their game.”

He said governments of all friendly countries are also taking care of Indians. “Our embassies and missions are working round the clock to help our people. Whether someone needs food, medical help, a place to stay, or legal assistance – all these needs are being ensured,” he said.

The war, he said, has once again sent a reminder on the importance of self-reliance. He said India is striving to become self-reliant in every field including energy. “We saw how important self-reliance is during the Covid period and the Ukraine crisis. The current crisis has once again established how essential it is for us to become self-reliant,” he said.

On the energy sector, Modi said India has increased its solar power capacity, and given emphasis to electric vehicles to reduce dependence on fuel. “Congress and Left leaders keep mocking the Atmanirbhar Bharat campaign. The Congress and the Left ruled governments together, and they made the country more dependent by handing it over to foreign powers. Now, they have started spreading rumours together,” he said.

Making similar remarks later in Tiruchirappalli in Tamil Nadu, another poll-bound state where he targeted the ruling DMK, the PM, according to PTI, referred to the LPG supply issue and said, “Today, I would like to speak to the people of Tamil Nadu about the conflict in West Asia. It has affected the whole world’s energy supply chain. We believe in the ideology of India First. There is no need to panic or pay attention to rumours. In any situation, we have seen how our government always puts the interests of India above everything.”

A first: SC allows passive euthanasia for man in coma for over 13 years

PRESS TRUST OF INDIA
New Delhi, March 11

THE SUPREME COURT (SC) on Wednesday allowed the withdrawal of artificial life support to a 32-year-old man, in a coma for more than 13 years, saying that the govern “Secondly, it has been conclusively determined that the continued administration of the same is no longer in the ‘best interests’ of the applicant.”

In light of the unanimous consensus arrived at by the parents/next of kin and the constituted medical boards respectively, we are of the opinion that the medical treatment ought not to be prolonged any further,” the bench said in a 338-page judgment.

“The right to die with dignity is inseparable from the right to receive quality palliative and End Of Life care. It is imperative to ensure that the withdrawal process is not marred by pain, agony, or suffering,” it added.

The top court noted that Rana survived only through clinically administered nutrition via percutaneous endoscopic gastrostomy tubes, and medical boards had unanimously concluded that continuation of treatment merely prolonged biological existence without any possibility of recovery.

When primary and secondary boards had certified withdrawal of life support, there was no need for judicial intervention, the apex court said. The

THE HARSH RANA CASE

■ 32-year-old Harsh Rana has remained on artificial life support for over 13 years

■ A resident of Ghaziabad, he was a B Tech student at Panjab University

■ He suffered head injuries after falling from the fourth floor of his PG in 2013 and has been in coma since

■ It has also been conclusively determined that the continued administration of the same is no longer in the ‘best interests’ to him

■ It has been established that the clinically assisted nutrition, hydration being administered to Harsh constitutes ‘medical treatment’

■ Rana’s family had said that allowing withdrawal of artificial life support would restore his dignity after years of irreversible suffering court made a special mention of Rana’s parents, expressing its appreciation to them for showing immense love and care for their son. “His family never left his side,” it said.

“The issues in this matter have once again brought to the fore the fragility and transient nature of the life we live, and how swiftly the tide can turn for the worse. For the past 13 years, the applicant has lived a life defined by pain and suffering. As suffering made all the more cruel by the fact that, unlike most of us, he was stripped of the ability to even give voice to his anguish.”

“However, while this case highlights how unforgiving life can be, it is easy to lose sight of another vital fact. We note with immense respect that the applicant’s parents and siblings have stood as unyielding pillars of support. They have exhausted every effort to care for him and continue to do so with unwavering dedication. We can only place on record our deepest appreciation for their boundless love, endurance, and kindness in the face of such adversity,” the bench said.

Rana’s family had said that allowing withdrawal of artificial life support would restore his dignity after years of irreversible suffering. Shortly after the SC pronounced its judgment, a crowd gathered outside the Brahm Raj Empire society in Ghaziabad, where the family now lives. Rashmi Nandakumar, the lawyer who represented the Ranas in the SC, told PTI over the phone that the family members were not in a position to com-

Local residents spoke about how the family had gone out of their way to get their son treated. Ashok Rana and his wife Nirmala Rana had sold their house in Delhi to meet the medical expenses of their son, neighbours told the media. The order allowing passive euthanasia is in line with the court’s 2018 Common Cause judgment, which was modified in 2023 and recognised the fundamental right to die with dignity.

In the 2018 judgment, a constitution bench had recognised passive euthanasia and the right to die with dignity as a fundamental right under Article 21. The court had held that passive euthanasia could be carried out using “Advance Medical Directives”.

SC: Perturbed by NCERT stand that chapter is ‘duly rewritten’

PRESS TRUST OF INDIA
New Delhi, March 11

THE SUPREME COURT on Wednesday said it is perturbed by the NCERT’s stand that the controversial chapter in class 8 social science book, which contained “offending” contents on corruption in the judiciary, had been “duly rewritten”.

The apex court referred to the affidavit filed by the NCERT’s director which said the revised chapter shall be incorporated in the forthcoming academic session 2026-27 and shall be used for classroom transactions in schools in accordance with the applicable curriculum and academic framework. “We are equally perturbed with the stand taken by the Director NCERT in paragraph 15 of the affidavit,” a bench headed by Chief Justice Surya Kant said.

“We direct that if at all chapter 4 of the subject textbook has been rewritten, the same shall not be published unless it is approved by a committee comprising domain experts,” the bench, also comprising Justices Joymalya Bagchi and Vipul M Pancholi, said.

The bench said it has not been apprised either through affidavit or otherwise as to who are the alleged subject experts/domain experts who have “rewritten” the chapter again and who has approved its incorporation in curriculum of academic session 2026-27.

Musk unveils joint Tesla-xAI project, eyes software disruption

REUTERS
March 11

ELON MUSK on Wednesday unveiled a joint project between Tesla and his artificial intelligence startup xAI, which he called “Macrohard” or “Digital Optimus” and said that it was a system capable of emulating the functions of software companies.

In a post on his social media platform X, Musk said the project pairs xAI’s Grok large language model, acting as a high-level “navigator,” with a Tesla-developed AI agent that processes real-time computer screen video and keyboard and mouse actions. The launch of Anthropic’s Claude Cowork, which can perform a range of computer-based tasks autonomously, has already spooked software investors who fear that agentic AI can disrupt established business models.

Musk’s xAI was previously building Macrohard as an AI project that would allow developers to simulate software creations by companies like Microsoft. “In principle, it is capable of emulating the function of entire companies. That is why the program is called MACROHARD, a funny reference to Microsoft,” Musk said on Wednesday.

Musk said the system would run on Tesla’s in-house AI4 chip paired with xAI’s Nvidia-based server hardware, describing the combination as cost-competitive. The announcement comes after Tesla entered into an agreement in January to invest about $2 billion to acquire shares in xAI.
